

JAG Products, LLC Partners with DrFirst to Deliver Comprehensive E-Prescribing Functionality to its Customers

Fully Integrated E-Prescribing Solution Will Dramatically Improve Prescribing Safety and Efficiency

June 18, 2010, Houston, TX, Rockville, MD, and DeWitt, NY – JAG Products, LLC announced today its new partnership with DrFirst to provide comprehensive e-prescribing functionality to practices using the company's ClinicTracker Electronic Health Record (EHR) system for behavioral healthcare. The fully integrated e-prescribing solution will enable customers to improve prescribing safety and behavioral healthcare practice efficiency.

With the integration of DrFirst's Rcopia e-prescribing technology, ClinicTracker users will now be able to easily and securely submit electronic prescriptions to any retail or mail-order pharmacy while accessing comprehensive clinical information for each patient. Accessible patient information includes drug and allergy interactions, complete prescribing histories, and formulary information. Psychiatrists, clinicians, and administrators can easily access this SureScripts-RxHub Certified functionality from within the ClinicTracker interface, and all resulting prescribing data is instantly captured within the application.

The joint e-prescribing solution will comply with the 2009 regulatory requirements issued by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS). Additionally, customers using the solution will eliminate illegible prescriptions, issue faster prescriptions, and experience dramatic reductions in calls and faxes between the medical office and the pharmacy.

"We are pleased to work with JAG Products to bring industry-leading electronic prescribing technology to its behavioral healthcare customers," said G. Cameron Deemer, President of DrFirst. "Through this integration, ClinicTracker users will participate in the benefits of e-prescribing while being fully compliant with the growing body of state and federal regulations."

"In partnering with an established e-prescribing leader such as DrFirst, JAG continues its dedication to expand ClinicTracker's functionality and keep up with the constantly-changing industry regulations," said Mark Shriro, Director of Marketing for JAG Products. "We keep pushing the technology envelope further to stay ahead of customer demand and offer the best and most affordable EHR system possible for behavioral healthcare agencies."
